The Other Side of Home presents the personal and global impact of the Armenian Genocide. This documentary is a universal story of identity, denial, and how the experience of conflict creates a ripple effect for future generations. The director hopes the film will shed light on how we are all similar to one another, rather than allowing our differences to divide us. The film will be followed by Q&A. (40 minutes.)

In 1915, an estimated 1.5 million Armenians were killed by the Ottoman Turks. In 2015, Maya discovers that her great grandmother was a survivor of the Armenian Genocide. The documentary follows Maya as she goes to Armenia to take part in the 100th commemoration of the genocide and to explore her conflicted identity. “The Other Side of Home” was a Best Documentary Short Subject Shortlist for the 89th Academy Awards and Winner of Best Documentary Film Award for the 19th Annual ARPA International Film Festival.
